

dish brown; separates very clearly from the flesh when fully ripe.

The specimen, from which the Drawing was taken, was from the garden of D. BEALE, Esq. at Edmonton, in the fine season of 1811.

THE ET HOUSE SPECIMEN

This specimen is said to have been taken from the garden of D. Beale, Esq. at Edmonton, in the fine season of 1811. It is a small, round, brownish object, with a smooth surface, and a small, dark, circular spot in the center. It is said to be a very rare specimen, and is valued at a high price. The drawing is a simple line drawing, showing the general shape and the position of the dark spot. It is a very good representation of the specimen, and is well suited for publication.

THE ET HOUSE SPECIMEN